

View from Mt. Judah looking west at Summit Valley. George Lamson

Donner Summit: Most Significant Historical square mile in California

Sierra Juniper, Castle Pk. Lake Angela George Lamson

The Mt. Judah Loop hike is the most popular hike on Donner Summit. It's great for scenery, wildflowers, geology, and exercise. There's more to it though.

Donner Summit is the most historically significant square mile in California and maybe the entire Western United States. Much of the history of the area can be seen from the Judah Loop Trail.

To experience this hike you will need to download to your smart phone or cell enabled tablet a QR code scanner. There are many available for free. Then point the camera at the QR codes here and web pages with lots of stories will pop up to illustrate your hike.

You don't actually have to be on the trail to use this brochure. The links work from home too.

Sierra Divide

Lincoln Highway

Division of Highways bldg view

Front panel picture: Castle Pk. and Lake Angela looking north from Mt. Judah.

Photo by George Lamson

Transcontinental Air Route

Emigrant Wagons

First Rope Tow on Donner Summit

Hikers on the PCT/Judah Loop Trail
George Lamson

First Locomotive Over Donner Summit

Summit Camp Chinese RR Workers' Camp view

Tunnel 6 Central Shaft

Charlie Chaplin Gold Rush view

Roller Pass sign at Roller Pass

George Lamson

